ADMIRAL FULLAM TO HEED SUGGESTIONS

Asked Not to Advise or Discuss With Midshipmen Their Status as Witnesses.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 15.—In an effort to show that there existed at the Naval Academy six or seven years ago a class honor system by means of which "gouging" cases were disposed of without necessity of recourse to the superintendent of the academy it was understood today that counsel for the seven midshipman defendants before the court of inquiry which is investigating irregularities in examinations will call several junior naval officers to testify as to the forced resignation of a midshipman by his classmates.

It has been testified at the present hearing that such a system was in force at one time, but that it had fallen into disuse.

Admiral Fullam, in a letter to the court today, assured that body that he would respect its suggestion regarding prospective witnesses among the midshipmen. He said that in view of the insinuations made by counsel and interference which might be drawn from newspaper accounts he stood ready to appear before the court to make an explanation.

The president of the court announced yesterday afternoon that he had directed that a letter be sent to Admiral Fullam requesting him not to give any advice to nor discuss with any midshipman reporting at his office the matter of their status as witnesses.

ONLY $20 IS PLEDGED FOR JULY 4 CELEBRATION

Urgent Appeal for Funds Issued by Finance Committee—Great Fireworks Display Planned.

With only $20 pledged toward the three-thousand-dollar fund that will be required for Washington's Fourth of July celebration, the finance committee today prepared to issue an urgent appeal to residents of the capital to cooperate in making possible the most patriotic observance of Independence Day ever held in Washington.

With this end in view the committee addressed a communication to the presidents of the seventy citizens' associations requesting that a committee of three be appointed to canvass for subscriptions in the localities represented by the associations.

Also you are requested to send about 400 prominent business and professional men requesting financial aid. Within the next few days every member of the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and Retail Merchants' Association will receive an appeal of a similar character.

Finance Committee Meeting.
The finance committee, of which John Poole, president of the Federal National Bank, is chairman, will hold a special meeting in room 303 at the District building Friday morning. It is hoped that by that time the public will have manifested just how far it is willing to go to make possible the staging of a mammoth patriotic festival here on the Fourth of July.

It is important that immediate response be made by the public, for the reason that a contract for the fireworks display will have to be entered into at an early date. Most of the money sought to be raised will be expended on fireworks.

Donations should be sent either to Chairman Poole at the Federal National Bank, or to Treasurer Edmund S. Wolfe, at the District National Bank.

Horse Show and Tournament.
Arrangements for the celebration are rapidly being whipped into shape by the various committees in charge. The horse show and tournament committee, of which Melvin C. Hazen is chairman, will meet at the District building at 4 o'clock this afternoon to put the finishing touches on the program for the horse show and races to be held at Brightwood reservoir on the afternoon of July 4. This entertainment will feature the day's program, and it is expected that it will be witnessed by 10,000 persons.
